Message from the President

As we begin the fall season for our AAUW branch I am so grateful to Linda Heigland for her talk on the history of Saratoga and Louise Webb's writers for sharing their memories with us on the 25th. Terry Raynaud's help was invaluable to the success of the meeting.

Lavonne Marafino has held me steady as I begin my presidency and Gail Pedersen's steadfast work on the Grapevine and Directory was invaluable. We welcome Patti Anderson as our new membership VP. New members please know how we value you and want you to find your place in our incredible organization.

This year we are featuring mission-based programs to reflect the work of AAUW to the community beyond our incredible interest groups. We are teaming with the League of Women voters to host two informational meetings pertaining to the coming elections. AAUW is a steady legislative voice for maintaining Title IX advances, equal pay and opportunity for women and a variety of issues that better the life of women and their families. The extent of this role was a surprise to me before I went to the convention this year and one I plan to pay close attention to throughout this years' discussions.

If you or your family members belong to an organization which supports educational projects remind them of Tech Trek and the change it can make in a young woman's life choices.

Keep those recipes coming and I look forward to seeing you at the wine tasting event on October 14 (see front page for details).

—Mary Surginer

Join in the Fun! Enroll in Great Decisions 2011

It is now time to enroll in Great Decisions 2011. The program, created by the Foreign Policy Association (FPA), is sponsored locally by the League of Women Voters (LWV), the American Association of University Women (AAUW), the Saratoga Area Senior Coordinating Council (SASCC), and the Saratoga Retirement Community (SRC). Specific information outlining the coming season's program has just been obtained from the FPA. The deadline for signing up is Tuesday, November 30, 2010.

The 2011 fee will be $27 for individual participants and $37 for couples who share course materials. (Enrollment fees, will increase over last year's prices due to a $2 increase in the price of the textbook.)

The Local Programs/Schedules:

As in past years, three separate groups are planned and will meet in the following time periods and locations:

(Group 1) eight bi-weekly sessions to be held on the first and third Thursdays of each month from 1:00 to 3:00 pm at the Saratoga Senior Center (SASCC's Senior Center Modular Classrooms).

(Group 2) weekly sessions for eight consecutive Thursdays from 10:30 to 12:30 am at the Saratoga Retirement Center (SRC).

(Group 3) weekly sessions for eight consecutive Thursdays from 2:00 to 4:00 pm at the Saratoga Retirement Center (SRC).

Organizing Meeting (Group 1 participants only). There will be an organizing meeting at 1:00 p.m. on January 27, 2010, at which time course materials will be distributed and volunteers identified to serve as individual topic leaders.

Descriptions of the 2011's Eight Topics

- 1. Rebuilding Haiti – The January 2010 earthquake that devastated Haiti struck a country already suffering from widespread poverty and underdevelopment. Did this natural disaster inadvertently provide an opportunity for reassessment and planning a new Haiti? With presidential elections looming in early 2011, what can new leadership bring to restore the country?
- 2. U.S. National Security – U.S. national security priorities were expanded after the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, to include waging war in Iraq and Afghanistan, tightening border security, pursuing cyberthreats, halting nuclear proliferation and attempting to snuff out homegrown terrorism. How has the U.S. national security agenda evolved since 9/11? In what ways will this agenda shape the American way of life in the future?
- 3. Horn of Africa – Since the early 1990s, the U.S. has monitored the Horn of Africa due to security concerns. Internal instability, weak governments in some countries, regional rivalries and a lack of development have resulted in an environment conducive to terrorism. Can the U.S. protect its national interests while mitigating the dangerous conditions in the region?
- 4. Responding to the Financial Crisis – As an immediate response to the financial crisis of 2007–08, governments around the world stepped in to bail out troubled private banks deemed “too big to fail,” underscoring the interdependence between private and public finances. With the recent eurozone crisis, what have we learned so far and is it possible to ensure that future crises will not occur?
- 5. Germany Ascendant – Germany has emerged from both the financial crisis and the eurozone crisis as the dominant economic and political power in Europe, in particular setting the tone for dealings with Russia, Eastern Europe and Iran. How important is it for U.S. interests to enhance relations with Germany, and how should the U.S. react when German and U.S. interests fail to align?
- 6. Sanctions and Nonproliferation – Sanctions have been created to curb nations in violation of international law, especially agreements concerning nuclear nonproliferation. How successfully have sanctions been applied against past violators? Is there any chance sanctions can curtail North Korea and Iran from continuing to develop nuclear weapons?
- 7. The Caucasus – The countries and regions of the Caucasus all have strong national identities but have long lived in the shadow of their larger neighbors: Russia, Iran and Turkey. How does this influence the Caucasus of today? How do the region's energy resources play into its relations with the outside world?
- 8. Global Governance – International cooperation subjects political leaders to an ongoing test: balancing national needs with a commitment to building a durable international order. How has an increasingly interconnected and shrinking world affected the viability of existing agreements and institutions? What economic, social, political and security concerns are currently on the agendas of intergovernmental bodies, and what is the future U.S. role?

Legislative Watch Update!

Ban Cadmium in Children's Jewelry

The Cadmium bill co-sponsored by AAUW CA has gone to Governor Schwarzenegger for his signature. Please contact Governor Schwarzenegger now! Urge Governor Schwarzenegger to sign SB929 (Pavley).

Enforce Title IX

Class bells are ringing again in high schools across America. Yet, the more things stay the same, the more they need to change. Title IX, the federal legislation that prohibits sex discrimination in federally funded education programs and activities, has provided girls with many more opportunities than they once had, but improved accountability will energize many more. For the young women in your life, join AAUW in urging your member of Congress to enforce Title IX in our high schools and strengthen its protections.

Two bills, the High School Athletics Accountability Act (H.R. 2882) and the High School Sports Information Collection Act (S. 471), would do just that.

These bills would make participation rates and expenditures for high school athletes available to the public, helping communities better enforce Title IX.

Most of us probably do not depend on Social Security as our main support in retirement. It is a nice addition to our other retirement income but not necessary to maintain life. Even before the recession, many seniors and particularly women depended on Social Security for food and shelter.

Support for Social Security Helps Women

“Social Security is one of our country’s most successful anti-poverty programs, providing benefits to children, disabled workers, surviving spouses, and retirees. Without Social Security benefits more than half of older women would fall into poverty. I believe that cutting benefits to those who can least afford it is the wrong path to fiscal responsibility. In these tough economic times, cutting social programs like Social Security and Medicare could be devastating to women and families across our nation. Social Security does not contribute to the federal deficit, and cutting benefits will not reduce the deficit. I am opposed to any cuts to Social Security, including reducing monthly benefits, privatizing accounts, and raising the retirement age — a benefit cut that places the greatest hardship on older Americans.” California AAUW website

Support Paycheck Fairness Act

American voters show overwhelming support for the Paycheck Fairness Act. According to the most recent polling data available, this bill has the support of 84 percent of voters...with 72 percent strongly supporting it. This support crosses gender, party, and regional lines! As members of AAUW, the leading advocate of equal pay for equal work, we must complete our work for passage of the Paycheck Fairness Act.

If the Senate does not finish this important work this year, we have to start all over again with a brand new Congress — and we have no idea how its members will feel about this bill.

AAUW in Select Group! Executive Director to Lead a Delegation to Cuba, Oct. 30-Nov. 4

AAUW Executive Director Linda Hallman, CAE, blogs about the upcoming trip to Cuba. In AAUW Goes to Cuba – Really!, she writes, “Less than six months ago, I never would have thought that I’d be making this announcement, but — this is truly exciting — AAUW has been selected to lead a delegation to Cuba for the purpose of studying ‘Gender Equity and the Role of Women in Cuban Society.’”

Astronaut Sally Ride Discusses Key Point of Why So Few? on NPR

Astronaut Sally Ride spoke of her new mission, to make science cool for kids and especially girls, on the Diane Rehm Show on NPR. The host asked listeners to submit questions and picked one sent via email by AAUW Director of Research Catherine Hill regarding “growth mindset,” the belief that intelligence is malleable. This topic was explored in the AAUW research report Why So Few? Ride explained that she had a growth mindset as a child and worked hard to learn science and math. If you wish to listen to this program, please contact me and I will forward you the link.

AAUW Makes News Roundup for Supporting a Title IX Suit, which is “key gender equity lawsuit against Delaware State University.” The AAUW Legal Advocacy Fund Title IX announced the award of $11,500 in support of the plaintiffs in Foltz et al. v. Delaware State University. They are challenging the university’s decision to eliminate the women’s equestrian team and replace it with competitive cheerleading. The circumstances of that suit closely resemble those of a recently-decided suit against Quinnipiac University, in which the judge said that competitive cheer “is still too underdeveloped and disorganized to be treated as offering genuine varsity athletic participation opportunities for students.”

AAUW Part of National Discussion to Increase the Numbers of Women and Girls in STEM

AAUW was part of a meeting this week to develop recommendations to help improve “Educate to Innovate,” a campaign launched by President Obama to improve the participation and performance of America’s students in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM). Join the conversation on the AAUW STEM Facebook page.

AAUW LAF Program Manager Continues to Speak Out Against Street Harassment

Ms. Magazine turned to LAF Program Manager Holly Kearl for an article about street harassment. In it, Kearl, whose new book – Stop Street

Harassment: Making Public Places Safe and Welcoming For Women – will be published in September, said: “street harassment is quickly becoming something you can take to your policymaker, something you can vocalize about, something you can fight against. And hopefully, we can start to change the public consciousness and get legislation passed to education the public, especially young boys.”

Local Teens Need Your Help

A fragile twelve year old girl is living in San Jose with five fifteen/sixteen year old girls. None are with their parents. Why? They live together in a group home for displaced teen girls run by Unity Care, a local social service agency. At the house the girls benefit from intensive counseling, life skills help and lots of emotional support on their rocky journey to becoming adult women.

In December these six girls will receive a colorful bag from AAUW's

Gifts for Teens program. The festive bags will be filled with useful and fun small gifts to help brighten their holidays.

These girls and another 1,444 low-income downtown San Jose teens will enjoy their full girls' totes or guys' duffle bags distributed by Gifts for Teens. Cosmetics, hand knit scarves and hats, games and crafts, socks and t-shirts, fleece blankets, gloves, dental and personal care products and any other new small gifts that teens would
