OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Letter from the President

Happy New Year! Happy January 2015!

The ancient Romans named the month of January in honor of their deity Janus, the god of beginnings and transitions, and thereby of gates, doors, passages and endings. He is usually depicted as having two faces, since he looks to the past and to the future.

PAST: In December we enjoyed our annual Holiday Party at the home of Nancy Anderson, always a gracious hostess. It's especially nice to see so many members and guests in such a festive setting.

Our fall appeal for donations has brought additional funding to our three local projects – Tech Trek, Local Scholarships, and the Committee on Homeless Women and Children. Many thanks to Louise Quenon for handling this important effort. You can still respond to this appeal; make your check payable to ISPF-AAUW and send it to Louise.

FUTURE: Our Authors' Lunch is Wednesday, January 21 (see the flyer for details) at Hong's Chinese Restaurant in Saratoga, a change from last year's location. Food will be served "family style" with each table seating 10 people. This is a great opportunity for prospective members to learn more about AAUW. The Committee — Arleen Pickett, Claire Campodonico, Judith Borlase, Lynn Sprague, Roberta London and Terri Raynaud — has worked hard to find interesting local women authors you will enjoy. Bring your own copies of their books to be signed or buy the books directly from each of the authors; checks and cash accepted.

Are you interested in helping our branch use social media? I attended a training session on MeetUp and would appreciate someone's help in implementing it over the next few months. This is one way we can reach out to our community and let more people know about AAUW.

We are looking for people to serve on the Board next year. Many jobs can be shared by 2 or 3 people or can be done with a committee, and training will be provided. Please consider whether you are willing to help shape the future of our branch.

Vibrant Words: Ideas and Inspirations for Poets by Erica Goss (2014)

This is a book of poetry writing prompts intended to spark creativity, banish writer's block, and inspire new ideas. You'll find out why you need core strength to write well, that poetry waits in parking lots, and what you can do with just one word. The ideas in this book are tried and true. Like snowflakes, no two are exactly alike, but all are equally valuable. May this book open your writing to new possibilities.

"A useful guide for new and experienced writers alike."

About the Books . . .

The Changing Woman: Women of a Certain Age by Barbara Joans (2013)

This is a book about the experience of women growing older, written by a woman, for women. What does it mean to be old? What does it mean to “act your age”? Is there a blueprint somewhere? In The Changing Woman, Dr. Barbara Joans calls upon a career as an anthropologist and uses a personal framework to define and explore the experiences of being a woman in her 40s, 50s, 60s and beyond. This is a partial memoir, partial analysis of the different cultures women grew up within and part glimpses of the future.

Previous Book: Bike Lust: Harleys, Women and American Society (2001)

Share: The Cookbook That Celebrates Our Common Humanity coproduced by Lauri Pastrone (2013)

The underlying message of Share is simple: For all our apparent diversity—as individuals, societies and nations—our actions, however small, can have an exponential, positive influence both on the world and the lives of others. Nothing more beautifully conveys our interdependence than the food we eat. The recipes featured in this uplifting book—provided by contributors who are all actively engaged in humanitarian issues, as well women from the eight countries in which Women for Women International work – celebrate this truth. Food builds our physical resilience, brings us joy, and strengthens our bonds with family and friends. What we choose to eat, and how we choose to prepare it, can also generate employment, wealth and economic stability for others.

Over the last 20 years, Women for Women International has helped some 407,000 women in war-torn countries rebuild their lives and move toward economic self-sufficiency through yearlong job skills training and micro-financing programs in Afghanistan, Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Iraq, Kosovo, Nigeria, Rwanda and South Sudan.

Lockheed-Martin Provides National AAUW Grant and Mentors for Tech Trek Camps

Our national organization has partnered with Lockheed-Martin to strengthen the Tech Trek Program for 2015. In a press release dated December 8, 2014, AAUW announced that Lockheed-Martin has awarded a grant of $90,400 to support the 21 camps across the country next summer. Our two local Stanford camps, Grace Hopper and Marie Curie (the ones attended by our Santa Clara County branch Tech Trek campers). These mentors will interact with campers on campus and provide role models for success in STEM careers.

This national-level funding means that the individual camps can focus on producing the best quality camp experience and let each AAUW branch focus on raising funds for camperships. In the past, branches have tried to raise additional funds to help the campers once they have raised the funds for the campers.

In addition to the grant, Lockheed-Martin will provide employees to mentor selected camps, including both Grace Hopper and Marie Curie (the ones attended by our Santa Clara County branch Tech Trek campers). These mentors will interact with campers on campus and provide role models for success in STEM careers.

The Tech Trek program was selected for the grant due to its demonstrated success in working with girls during their crucial middle school years, as reported in the latest survey of camper alumnae.

Sunday Friends Program

Another Successful Season Made Bright! Find Out What's Next! Join Us in a Visit to Sunday Friends.

Committee members and one guest met on Tuesday, December 9 to wrap presents for the women at Commercial Street Inn (CSI), a shelter for homeless women and children. For most of the women this was the only gift they received this year. For some of the women it maybe the first gift they have gotten in years or (in some cases) have ever received.

Thank to those who donated gifts for the women. You have made many women very happy and brightened their holiday.

A Visit to Sunday Friends – Join Us!

On Sunday, January 25, 2015 the Committee will visit Sunday Friends, The Working Alternative to Charity with a visit to Lowell elementary. This program works with very low-income families. They meet at four elementary schools, two schools on the first and third Sundays and two schools on the second and fourth Sundays. This program involves the whole family—including fathers, who are frequently absentee parents.

The family members attending have an opportunity “to earn basic necessities and learn life skills needed for self-reliance.” This program is about “helping people learn to help themselves”.

Anyone wanting to see how the program works may come with us. We will car pool. We have to be at Lowell elementary school at 1:00 pm. Interested? Please contact Chair, Pat Khan, 408-741-1616, patannkhan@gmail.com for more information.

2015 Great Decisions starts on February 5, 2015.

The 2015 Great Decisions developed by the Foreign Policy Association (FPA), will begin with over 62 people participating in two separate groups. Sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Southwest Santa Clara Valley (LWV), The American Association of University Women Los Gatos-Saratoga Branch (AAUW), the Saratoga Area Senior Coordinating Council (SASCC) and the Saratoga Retirement Community (SRC).

The 2015 program will function with two groups just as in past years. For Group One only, course materials will be distributed at a planning session beginning at 1:00 pm on January 29, 2015, in the SASCC Oak Room.

Group One as enrolled 48 members and will have its first study session on February 5, 2015 from 1:00 to 3:00 pm and thereafter on the first and third Thursday of each month in the SASCC's Oak Room (modular classroom). That initial assembly is for viewing a DVD, provided by the FPA, pertaining to each session's scheduled topic. Half of Group One then adjourns to the Magnolia room. Separating into two subgroups facilitates greater individual participation.

Group Two's participants will hold their first study session on February 5, 2015 at 2:00 pm.

Group Two has enrolled 14 members and meets weekly on Thursdays thereafter from 2:00 to 4:00 pm in the Saratoga Retirement Community's Barnes Hall.

AAUW Legal Advocacy Fund Supports Sex Discrimination Suit Against University of Tennessee

Former athletic department professionals allege unequal pay practices, retaliation

The American Association of University Women Legal Advocacy Fund (LAF) announced that it will provide support to the plaintiffs in Moshak v. University of Tennessee, a case that underscores the everyday nature of gender discrimination in college athletics.

The lawsuit was filed in 2012 by Jennifer Moshak, Heather Mason,
and Collin Schlosser, former employees of the University of Tennessee’s women’s athletics department. The plaintiffs allege sex discrimination and unlawful retaliation under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, and the Equal Pay Act of 1963. They claim they were unlawfully discriminated against and eventually forced out of their positions during a university-led merger of the men’s and women’s athletic departments.

Schlosser and Mason argue in part that they were fired by UT after making internal complaints alleging unequal pay between the men’s and women’s athletic departments. Moshak claims she was forced to retire after being demoted and marginalized. The plaintiffs also say that during the merger, which was led by newly hired Athletic Director Dave Hart,

the vast majority — 86 percent —
of positions terminated either were held by women or were associated with the women’s athletic department.

“This case is an opportunity to grapple with some of the gender gaps still at play in university athletics,” said AAUW Executive Director and CEO Linda D. Hallman, CAE. “We are proud to stand with these plaintiffs in their fight for fairness. Their claims shine a light on why AAUW does this type of work, day in and day out.”

The case is currently scheduled to go to trial in June 2015 in the U.S.
District Court for Eastern Tennessee.

“The University of Tennessee and its Athletic Director Dave Hart engaged in blatantly discriminatory and retaliatory actions against accomplished employees in the women’s athletic department, in violation of Title IX and other federal laws,” said
the plaintiffs’ attorney, Lisa Banks, of Katz, Marshall, and Banks, a civil rights law firm in Washington, D.C.

The AAUW LAF has been crucial to the success of many gender discrimination cases during its 33-year history. (LAF is funded through the AAUW Funds. Attend the Author’s Luncheon which benefits the AAUW Funds.)
